Webster

Stop the presses

Blast that Bush administration — it is doing everything in its power to wreak havoc at Parade magazine. Already printed and ready for delivery is the May 19 issue that features a cover story on CIA Director William Webster. Now Webster has up and quit. "His resignation in no way detracts from its relevance," a hopeful Parade spokeswoman argues in USA Today. Also in the same issue, the magazine writes that President Bush, since suffering from ulcers in the late 1960s, has "enjoyed phenomenally good health."
